

“Tell the people in San Francisco: they are saving lives.”

Shoshanna, Hameginim School Principal

Jobless and impoverished, Natmar attended a vocational training program for Ethiopian-Israelis where she not only found employment, she regained her dignity and self-confidence.

After having endured years of missile fire and suffering severe post-trauma symptoms, 7-year-old Yael is receiving treatment that is bringing her back to her cheerful, energetic self.

David, an 18-year-old from a disadvantaged neighborhood spent a year volunteering in a service program where he strengthened his sense of personal achievement while contributing to his community.
